

Hiking in Majorca

The way to the Waters of Banyalbufar

Experience
how opposites connect.

Foto: Horacio Ruben Palacio

Enjoy the beauty of nature.

Walking route:

The small village Banyalbufar lies on the northwestern Hillside of the Tramuntana mountains. It is south of Valldemossa and north of Estellencs, on the coastal road Ma-10. Banyalbufar was founded by the Moors in the 10th century. We walk from the village center down to the sea and look at the terraces beautifully landscaped by the Arabs. First the path takes us on small paved roads, then on unpaved trails and by old stone steps down to the bay. We follow the bay on large natural stones to the other side of the bay. There we go the hillside back up to the village center. The distinction of this place is a waterfall directly falling into the sea. In the small bay the two water qualities unite, the freshwater of the earth and the salt water of the sea. We can have lunch in a typical Majorcan restaurant.

Duration:

Walking time: about 1.5 to 2 hours
Total: 5 hours including time for lunch

Level of difficulty:

Easy to medium, there are small unpaved paths, stone stairways and in the bay you have to walk over stones.
Altitude difference: 109m.

Equipment:

Recommended for families (baby in backpacks, children over 5 years).
Sports or hiking boots, sun protection (glasses, hat, lotion for sun protection), rain gear, bathing clothes, water to drink and sandwiches for picnic, there is a Majorcan restaurant.

Meeting Point:

At the bus station of Banyalbufar.
Either by car or by bus No. 200.

